Housing Justice Workshop

We are excited to share with you an upcoming workshop opportunity available to you and your community through HUD Regional Teams: The Housing Justice East/West Workshop.

The Housing Justice East/West Workshop will focus on how our implementation of Housing First practices must honor the dignity of people who are unhoused communities and how we can pursue a vision of ending homelessness rooted in racial, gender, disability, and economic justice. The workshop sessions will contain content delivered by technical assistance providers as well as space for facilitated roundtable-style conversations with pre-selected community members on challenges and opportunities of striving towards this vision. Through the chat and reflective questions and activities, we will invite participants to speak to you of housing justice, identify the barriers to housing justice you face, and collaboratively uplift and design strategies to address these barriers in your community.

The workshop will be delivered through two 90-minute sessions, with one time offered that is more convenient for participants in Eastern time zones and another more convenient for those in Western time zones:

West- Tuesdays February 20 and 27- 3:30-5pm Eastern/12:30-2pm Pacific
